TOTAL GIFTS AND GRANTS		51,168,087.34

* This includes gifts to the Lycoming Partners in Progress Fund which are designated for the Physical Education and Recreation Center.

This issue of the Lycoming College Report is devoted primarily to the report of gifts and contributions received by Lycoming from July 1, 1983 to June 30, 1984. A summary on this page shows total contributions received from all sources.

Subsequent pages recognize the alumni, parents, friends, groups, business organizations, faculty, staff, and trustees who made gifts to Lycoming last fiscal year.

As the summary indicates, total gifts and grants for fiscal '84 is $1,168,087.34. This total includes gifts to the Lycoming Partners in Progress Fund, designated for the Physical Education and Recreation Center, and contributions to the Lycoming College Fund.

Comparing giving from one year to the next always is difficult. A variety of factors can skew results. But there are a number of giving categories that are significant to point out.

The Lycoming College Fund shows another increase in both contributions and the number of contributors. The former figure is $136,244.12, up from $121,096.41 in 1983. The latter is 1,778, up from 1,636 a year ago. The percentage of participation also shows an increase, to 17.4 from 15 percent in 1983.

Gifts from foundations and trust funds more than doubled in 1984, from $154,604.90 to $323,333.22. Church contributions also showed a significant increase from $69,136.84 to $91,321.45.

Overall, sources showing increases in 1984 are business and industry, the church, and foundations and trusts. Sources showing decreases are alumni, non-alumni, organizations, the government, and bequests (none in 1984).

New members join Lycoming faculty, staff

Beginning their first years at Lycoming in late August were 15 new faculty and staff members, including two 1984 alumni. The new faculty members are in the departments of nursing, biology, mathematical sciences, English, astronomy-physics, and theatre arts. The new staff members include a campus minister, an advancement director, three admissions counselors, and an athletic trainer.

Also, two Lycoming administrators who have been promoted entered their first years in the new positions at the start of the semester. They are Mary E. Hierning, former assistant director of admissions, now director of admissions, and Robert L. Curry '69, former recruiting coordinator and assistant in athletics, now assistant director of athletics. (See separate story on them in this issue.)

Admissions

Three new admissions counselors have been added: Rita A. Ciurlino '84, Kathleen E. Gorman, and Ned E. Strauser '84.

Ciurlino earned a B.A. in criminal justice in May. Very active on campus, she was an LGA (living group advisor) for three years, a Panhellenic Council officer and "member of the year" in 1983, a Beta Phi Gamma "sister of the year" in 1983, an IRUSKA honor society member, and a cross-country runner.

Gorman earned a B.A. in English from Le Moyne College in May, with a minor in business. At Le Moyne she was a secretary in the admissions office for four years, while also serving as a resident advisor for one year. Her other campus activities included serving as a dorm council president and on the student orientation committee, and participating in several clubs and intramural sports. She was an honor society member and listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Strauser is magna cum laude graduate in English with a minor in German. The Montoursville native was a member of the international honor society in social science. He graduated with honors while working part time for United Artists Theatre Communications, Inc. A son of Larry R. Strauser '59, assistant professor of criminal justice, he also was a teaching assistant.

Advancement

J. Barton Meyer is the new executive director for college advancement. He came to Lycoming from Baldwin-Wallace College, where he was director of development. As director, he has administrative responsibility for the offices of development, alumni relations, planned giving, and public relations. (See separate story on him in this issue.)

Astronomy-Physics

Dr. David G. Fisher is the new faculty member in the astronomy-physics department. He is an assistant professor.

Fisher came to Lycoming from the Bartol Research Foundation of the Franklin Institute in Newark, DE, where he was a post-doctoral fellow. He also taught at the University of Delaware. Fisher holds a Ph.D. and M.S. in physics from Delaware and a B.S. in physics from The Pennsylvania State University.

Athletics

Donald Whitford is the new head trainer. The Williamsport native holds a B.A. degree from Lock Haven University. He was a student trainer at Lock Haven and head trainer at an Ohio high school while earning his master's.

Biology

A faculty member has been added to the biology department. Dr. Judith Pottmeyer. She is an assistant professor.

Pottmeyer taught at Washington State University while earning her doctoral degree. She also taught at Ohio University while being enrolled in the botany graduate program. Her B.S. Ed. in biology is from Clarion University. While working as a curatorial and research assistant in Washington, she studied the effects of volcanic ash from the 1980 eruption of Mt. St. Helens on plant life and water.

English

Two new English department faculty members are Dr. Elise M. Gold and Terrence W. Tierney. Gold is an assistant professor. Tierney is an instructor.

Gold taught at Nazareth College of Rochester and the University of Rochester while earning a Ph.D. She holds an M.A. from Rochester and a B.A. from Herbert H. Lehman College. Gold also has worked as a tutor, writing specialist, indexer and proofreader, and research assistant.

Tierney taught at Emory University while working toward a Ph.D. there. His M.A. and B.A. degrees are from SUNY at Binghamton, where he also was a writing center tutor. He worked as a technical writer and editor for the Singer Company for four years before pursuing advanced degrees.

Mathematical Sciences

One member has been added to the mathematical sciences department. Joseph Jancke, visiting instructor.

Jancke taught part-time at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign while earning an M.S. in mathematics. His B.S. in mathematics also is from Illinois, where he was a tutor as an undergraduate. Most recently, Jancke was a teaching intern at Parkland College.

President's Corner

A Good Thing Going

"A 1977 report by the National Science Board to the House Committee on Science and Technology traced 50 percent of the major breakthroughs in astronomy, chemistry, earth sciences, and mathematics over the previous two decades to independent colleges and universities."

You may have guessed that the independent sector is the creative core of American higher education, but were you aware that Lycoming is in the mainstream of that productivity? The CHIP research project at Lycoming (Community Health Improvement Program) is attracting national, even international, attention. During the previous decade, our biology and chemistry departments alone have produced more than 100 graduates who, after earning graduate degrees, now serve as doctors, dentists, and professional scientists across America.

As enrollments decline across the country, and especially in the East, Lycoming is attracting more students, not fewer. Why? Because we have something special to offer. Applications are increasing each year and those confirming their intention to enter this year by paying an advance deposit increased 29 percent over last year, also a vintage year.

At Lycoming we have a good thing going. The campus atmosphere helps. Being in Williamsport helps. But not even the natural beauty of this region can explain why Lycoming continues to buck the negative trends in higher education. Lycoming is prospering because of the improving intellectual climate on this campus. With dangerous currents all around us, we had better not forget that! Our only claim to fame and our only hope for the future is to keep that intellectual climate improving. This is not the time to rest on our laurels. It is the time to enhance a distinguished program to make it even more productive. Many colleges don't enjoy that opportunity.

The gifts reported in this issue were given by those who share our vision of what Lycoming can become. Because they believe in this place, they support it. How fortunate Lycoming is to have alumni and friends with a vision of the future! That is our most valuable possession. It will allow Lycoming to participate in the major breakthroughs of the next decade, too!

Frederick S. Blumer

Campus Notes

Lycoming's Institute of Community Health, known also as CHIP (County Health Improvement Program), has received an award from Pennsylvania for working with private businesses to enhance the health of more than 8,000 workers. The award is the Keystone Award of Merit, presented by the Governor's Private Sector Initiatives Task Force in Harrisburg. It recognizes Lycoming for taking the lead in forming partnerships with businesses that can be duplicated elsewhere. CHIP has been working for several years to set up projects to improve the cardiovascular health of workers.

Lycoming President Dr. FREDERICK E. BLUMER has been reelected to a four-year term on the University Senate of the United Methodist Church, the oldest accreditation body in the country. The 21-member senate includes seven chief executive officers chosen by their peers from the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the United Methodist Church. He was elected to his first term in 1980, and named chairman of the commission that reviews and approves institutions providing seminary education. There are 104 presidents of United Methodist institutions in the U.S.

Three journals will publish two reviews, an essay, and a comment by STAN WILK, of the sociology-anthropology department, in future issues. American Anthropologist will carry the lead review in its socio-cultural section of the October issue. Wilk's review of "Cursillo" by Marcene Marcous. The same journal also has asked Wilk to review "World Views" by Michael Kearney. Anthropology and Humanism Quarterly will publish Wilk's essay, "The Meaning of Religion as a Cultural System." It will be included in a special issue devoted to anthropologist Clifford Geertz. The fall issue of ALSA Forum will carry Wilk's comment on the essay "Why Law Exists?"

The Pennsylvania Humanities Council has selected two faculty members, GARY BOERCKEL, of the music department, and DIANE LESKO, of the art department, to be Commonwealth Speakers for 1984-85. Lesko previously was a speaker in the statewide program in 1983-84. Topics on which Boerckel will speak are: "Scott Joplin: Ragtime from Barrelhouse to Opera House," "Ragtime from Joplin to Jelly Roll," and "Jazz Pianists of the Twenties." The pianist's presentations include performing as well as speaking. Lesko will speak on: "Of Saints, Skeletons and Scatological Imagery: James Ensor's Artistic Commentary on Humanity," "Our Neglected Heritage: Women's Art from the Renaissance through the 19th Century," and "Our Neglected Heritage: 20th Century Women Artists."

Three sculptures by ROGER SHIPLEY, of the art department, were on display in the Central Pennsylvania Artists Invitational at Bucknell University through Sept. 30. Shipley was one of 10 regional artists invited to display art works at the show. He selected them from his Pictorial Participation series.

LYCOMING COLLEGE REPORT

November, 1984
Volume 37, No. 7

LYCOMING COLLEGE REPORT is published 10 times a year by Lycoming College. Third Class postage paid at Williamsport, Pennsylvania 17701.

Staff Editor — Jerome M. Zuleit
Associate Editor — Ralph E. Zeigler, Jr.
Assistant Editor — Elizabeth Laver

Meyer named advancement director

Lycoming's new executive director for college advancement is J. Barton Meyer, the former director of development at Baldwin-Wallace College. He assumed the post on Aug. 27.

Meyer replaces Paul C. Hassenplug, who served as executive director for almost three years and who is now in a similar post at West Chester University. As advancement director, Meyer has administrative responsibility for the development, alumni relations, planned giving, and public relations/publications offices.

Born in Knoxville, Meyer has spent most of his life in Ohio. At Baldwin-Wallace, he served four years as director of the annual fund before being named development director in April, 1983.

Herring, Curry assume new duties

Two Lycoming administrators with more than 18 years of combined experience at Lycoming began the fall semester with new titles and responsibilities.

Mary E. Herring is the new director of admissions, after serving since 1978 as assistant director. Robert L. Curry, 69, is a new assistant director of athletics, after serving since 1972 as football recruiting coordinator and an assistant in athletics.

Herring was named to the director's post after a search to replace the former dean of admissions and financial aid, Marshall Rauci. Her promotion is permanent, although the search for a dean of the division is continuing.

As admissions director, Herring is managing a staff of four counselors and three office support personnel. She graduated from Albright College in 1975 with a triple major in psychology, sociology, and religion, and is currently working toward a master's degree in communications at Bloomsburg University. She is married to a CPA with a practice in Sunbury.

Curry will continue as recruiter for all sports and will assist new director of athletics Frank L. Girardi with administrative tasks in the department. He will help particularly with sports that do not have full-time coaches.

The Ardmore native, one of the first Division III football recruiters in the nation, has helped to turn Lycoming's program into a perennial Eastern power. He lives with his wife and two children in Williamsport.

Nursing

Three faculty members were added to the nursing department: Muriel K. Jacoby, Esther H. Condon, and Rose Marie Boroch. Each is an assistant professor.

Jacoby taught at the University of Vermont nursing school for 10 years before coming to Lycoming. She also was very active in the Vermont State Nurses' Association and with the Medical Center Hospital of Vermont. Before going into teaching, she worked at the Crozer-Chester Medical Center in Chester, the Delaware Curative Workshop in Wilmington, the Yale-New Haven Medical Center, Griffin Hospital, Derby, CN, and the National Iranian Oil Company Hospital, Abadan. She holds an M.S. in nursing from the University of Delaware, a B.S.N. from Hood College, and a diploma from the Johns Hopkins School of Nursing.

Condon came to Lycoming from Old Dominion University, where she taught for six years. Her clinical experiences include working as a home health nurse, a visiting nurse, and a staff nurse at Chesapeake General Hospital, VA, Rhode Island Hospital, Providence, and Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie. She is a Ph.D. candidate at the University of Texas at Austin, and holds an M.S. from Boston University, a B.S.N. from the University of Rhode Island, and a diploma from the Hudson River State Hospital School of Nursing.

Boroch also is a doctoral candidate, at Teachers College of Columbia University. She holds an M.A. from New York University, a B.S.N. Ed. from Wilkes College, and an R.N. from the Harnsburg Polyclinic Hospital's nursing school. Boroch came to Lycoming from Washington, D.C., where she was associate director of Congressional and agency relations for the governmental affairs division of the American Nurses Association. She worked for the ANA for seven years after teaching at Rutgers University and the Harrisburg Hospital and after working at Doctor's and Memorial Hospitals in New York, the polyclinic hospital, and Wilkes-Barre General Hospital. Boroch is a Lycoming County native.

Theatre Arts

The newest member of the theatre arts department is Jerry D. Allen, an assistant professor.

Allen came to Lycoming from the University of Arizona, where he taught for five years. He also has taught at the University of Puget Sound, Weber State College, and Utah State University. Allen holds an M.F.A. and B.F.A. in theatre from Utah State, specializing in design. He has worked for numerous theatre and repertory companies in Arizona, Washington, and Utah.

United Campus Ministry

The Rev. Mane Lindhorst is the new campus minister. She came to the college from Wesleyan University in Middletown, CT, where she was university minister. Lindhorst has been assistant chaplain at Colgate University, pastor at First Church of Bethlehem, CT, and director of Ministry with Women at the Wesley Foundation of the University of Illinois. She also taught at Wesleyan and Colgate. Her M.Div. degree is from Yale University Divinity School, her A.B. in religion is from Vassar College. She replaces the Rev. Jerry Eischied, who is now pastor at a United Methodist church in Trout Run, a small town north of Williamsport.

Thanks
To all of you who completed and sent to us the survey in the June issue of the Lycoming College Report.

While the number of you who returned the questionnaire to us was not large, it was revealing.
It showed, for example, that most of you are very satisfied with the overall content of the publication

That is gratifying, because we publish the Report for you to keep you informed of news and events happening at Lycoming and about alumni.
Again, thanks for your response. We hope to be able to use the survey forms to make the Report an even better publication in the future
—The Editors
